Ben Nemtin Set to Inspire at VPPPA's 2024 Safety+ Symposium

Renowned #1 New York Times bestselling author and co-founder of The Buried Life movement named opening keynote speaker for VPPPA's 2024 Safety+ Symposium, August 25-28 in Aurora, CO.

FALLS CHURCH, VA (May 14, 2024) — VPPPA today announced Ben Nemtin, co-founder of The Buried Life Movement, as the opening keynote speaker for the organization's 2024 Safety+ Symposium. The New York Times bestselling author brings a wealth of inspiration, resilience, and transformative insights to the symposium's expected 2000-plus attendees.

With an impressive track record of delivering more than 500 keynotes to esteemed brands and Fortune 500 companies worldwide, including appearances on The Today Show, CNN, NBC, FOX, ABC, CBS, and more, Nemtin is renowned for his ability to ignite passion and drive positive change. His dynamic presentations captivate audiences, leaving a lasting impact on individuals and organizations alike.

"VPPPA is excited to bring New York Times bestselling author Ben Nemtin to VPPPA's 2024 Safety+ Symposium," said VPPPA Executive Director Chris Williams, CAE. "Having heard Ben speak numerous times, his message about prioritizing perspective and pushing oneself to achieve the impossible fits perfectly with our mission to advance health and safety excellence."

2024 marks the 40th edition of VPPPA's Safety+ Symposium, considered one of the premier annual events for safety-conscious organizations dedicated to raising the standard for workplace safety and health. Scheduled from August 25-28, 2024, at the Gaylord Rockies Resort and Convention Center in Aurora, CO, this year's symposium provides a unique opportunity for frontline workers to C-Suite executives to network and learn directly from safety professionals, industry leaders, and representatives from federal & state regulatory agencies.
