FALLS CHURCH, VA (June 27, 2024) — VPPPA announced today an agreement with Endeavor Business Media to continue their co-location relationship for 2024. VPPPA's 2024 Safety+ Symposium will once again co-locate with the Safety Leadership Conference, presented by EHS Today, with both events set to take place August 25-28, 2024, at the Gaylord Rockies Resort in Aurora, CO.

"VPPPA is pleased to once again partner with Endeavor Business Media to bring the EHS Today Safety Leadership Conference to VPPPA's 2024 Safety+ Symposium," said VPPPA Executive Director Chris Williams, CAE. "This marks the second year that our organizations have co-located conferences, with the crossover benefits for attendees proving invaluable to advancing health and safety excellence. I'm especially excited to bring together VPPPA's Health & Safety Awards and EHS Today's America's Safest Companies Awards in a joint ceremony that will showcase the very 'best of the best' in EHS&S across both organizations."

2024 marks the 40th edition of VPPPA's Safety+ Symposium, the only national conference that supports high-performing professionals across all career stages, from the front-line workers to senior management. Through more than 65 professional development sessions, multiple networking events, and idea-sharing spaces, VPPPA's 2024 Safety+ attendees will gain invaluable insights and tools to advance safety excellence in their company's EHS&S programs.

John DiPaola, Vice President & Market Leader of Endeavor's Manufacturing Group, echoed the enthusiasm for the second annual co-location between SLC and Safety+. "Through our strategic partnership with the VPPPA, we're proud to announce a groundbreaking collaboration aimed at raising the bar for safety standards across industries. With EHS Today's Safety Leadership Conference joining forces with VPPPA's Safety + Symposium, we're not just fostering cooperation and elevating safety; we're defining the future of it," said DiPaola.
